SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION .- Last night, lecture was delivered by W. Giles Dix, Esq., formality in the papers, and now his second Dawson.

on the subject of the Andes and the Ecuador, attempt has failed for the same reason. We The news from Europe by the Andes, has couched in highly poetical language, resembling in many respects the beautiful descrip-tions by Bernardin de St. Pierre, in his immortions by Bernardin de St. Pierre, in his immor-tal work of Paul and Virginia. The lecture District of Columbia. If we mistake not, there ing anomaly,) are decidedly more prolific, was intended to be a geographical account of that mountainous region of country, stretching colored man named Herbert, which is from England and France are now in earnest. They slong South America, embracing Peru and the Ecuador, which latter was formerly included in the republic of Columbia.

The lecturer commenced his discourse by highly wrought eulogy upon mountains in reneral, which had always been a theme for the poet and the historian. In the history of the country, the lecturer was the apologist for the Spaniard, observing that fifty years before the pilgrim fathers had landed on the Plymouth Rock, and whilst Jamestown was yet wilderness, the hymns that had been chaunted in the Temple at Jerusalem, were sung in im something sacred in the tenacity with which Spain had attempted to retain possession of her last hold in America. We were fond of contrasting the success of Saxon enterprise with what we call Spanish failure in colonization, but we ought first to reflect upon the obstacles that Spain had to encounter. We had set the Indians apart as a distinct race. whilst Spain, on the contrary, had incorporated them with her population. On account of this circumstance, the Castilian spirit was con stantly obliged to contend against the tendency of the mass of the population, towards heather. ism and retrogression. He, therefore, regarded the revolutionary outbursts of South America as in reality caused by the repugnance of the Spanish race to the downward progress of the country. In fact, in South America, the Span ish minority had always ruled and guided the numerical majority. Great credit was given to the Roman Catholic Church for their efforts to christianize the natives and to maintain the worship of God, despite of all the sanguinary conflicts raging around them, so that morning and evening incense of prayer never failed to arise among the mountain valleys of the Andes. Besides, notwithstanding what had been said to the contrary, the South American States were in reality steadily advancing in social progress.

The second part of the lecture was devoted to an account of the country of the Ecuador. which the lecturer described as an epitome of the world; con'aining every variety of climate, soil and natural production, within a space of seven or eight degrees of latitude and ten of longitude. Here in the heavens there might be seen both the northern and southern con-assistants, $300. stellations, whilst a short journey would bring the traveller from the productions of the tropies, to where grew the grain and other cereals of a more temperate region. Nay, even the shout of the ploughman might be heard by the harvester. A very vivid and graphic description was then given of a journey across the Andes to Quito, on mules.

In the course of his remarks, the lecturer predicted that all the states on the Pacific side of South America would eventually be consolidated into one vast republic and that some of the Atlantic States, including even Brazil, might probably be added to it. He considered that in politics, the tendency to centralization was as certain, as the law of gravitation in natural philos At the corclusion Professor Henry announced to the audience, which was as usual very large, the theatre being completely filled, that Dr. Lawrence J. Smith would resume his course of chemical lectures, next week. He likewise mentioned that Dr. Eddy would deliver, to-night, his lecture on Bees before the Horticultural Society, which has already been noticed in the Star.

INDIAN DELEGATION.—We gave, yesterday, an account of a poor family of Indians of the tribe of Menomonies, who had been so shamefully treated, they must not be confounded however with the specimens of another race of Indians who are now on a visit to Washington. These latter, numbering sixteen, are chiefs of the various tribes inhabiting Nebraska, such as the Omahas, Missouris, and the Ottoes. Their object in coming here is to have a talk with their "great father," and in pursuance of this an interview took place to-day with the Commissioner of Indian Affairs about the transfer of their lands and their removal to some more distant quarter. Yesterday, the Indian braves, dressed in their savage costume, were present in the Hall of Representatives where they excited much curiosity. They are under the charge of Major Gatewood, who arrived with them at Washington on Monday night, and they are quartered at Mr. James Maher's, where they will not fail to be well treated.

NATIONAL THEATRE.-Last night, the admirers of Shakspeare and the legitimate drama, were entertained with the performance of the world-renowned tragedy of Romeo and Juliet. The piece went off with much eclat, the whole company performing admirably, so that where all was good, it would be useless to par-ticularize. Mrs. Farren's Juliet was all that Juliet could be, a beautiful specimen of lovely confiding girlish love, worked up into the sublime. Mr. Perry's Romeo was in keeping, such a Romeo as Juliet would love. Mercutio was performed by Mr. Fenno, and was excellent; the well-known speech of: "Oh, I see Queen Mab hath been with you," was given with much humor and effect, and was warmly applauded. Mr. McDonough acted Frier Law-rence, and made a most ghostly father. Mrs. Mann's representation of the Nurse was a natural piece of acting, and was likewise much applauded. Mr. McKeon acted Capulet, the and discretion. The remaining parts were well represented, and the whole company deserve commendation for the excellent manner in which the piece was represented. We were sorry to see so thin a house. It ought not to be, with so good a company.

Twenty Per Cent." informs us that we can resign if we are not satisfied; but unfortunately we are in no condition to do this, not having been able to save anything to engage in other business; and it is certain it would not be for the interest of the Government to lose the services of experienced clerks, and employ others without experience. I have been serving the Government faithfully, for nearly eight years. at a salary of $1,000 for the first six, $1,200 one year, and at the rate of $900 since last July, and if after using the most constant rigid economy and self-denial, I am taken away from my family by death, or lose my place, my companion, four small children, and other female dependents, would be left in a state of | lb. destitution. This is a discouraging thought. and it ought not to be so. It does appear to me that "Twenty Per Cent" must have been nfluenced by an ungenerous, malicious spiri n penning his article. If he thinks he is not well paid, let him act like an honorable man. apply to the proper source for his remedy, or act upon his own advice and design, and not seek to prejudice the House against granting our reasonable request; for, if the measure is defeated, he certainly will not be benefitted. and we shall be left poor indeed, many of us being left with the sad alternatives before us, to resign or toil on under continual embarrassment.

The first day of well known March comes in with all manner of loveliness and beauty; let us not be cajoled, however, but remember "she enters like a lamb and goes out like a lion." When death is at the door, the remedy which would have saved life if administered in time, comes too late. De not triffe with disease. Rely upon it, that when the stomach will not digest food—when faintness and lassitude pervade the system—when the sleep is disturbed, the appetite feeble, the mind lethargic, the nerves unnaturally sensitive, and the head confused-rely upon it, that when these symp toms occur, the powers of vitality are failing, and that, unless the mischief is promptly checked, tife will be shortened as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, greater than was ever before accumulated in favor of one remedy, that Hoefland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. WHY HAVE WE TWO EYES!-That was the question which Mr. WHEATSTONE entrapped nature into answering, in the new theory of vision. In June, 1838, Prof. WHEATSTONE detailed the true theory of binocular vision, together with a description and diagram of his illustrative apparatus, which he first called the STEREOSCOPE, (after two Greek words, meaning "Solids, I see,") for which, in 1840, he was awarded the Royal Medal. Its practical utility has been overlooked, until very recently it has been applied to Daguerreotypes.
